

Reestablishment of the International Psychoanalytical Association.

Referring to my letters of 26.04.2019 and 30.04.2019 addressed to the officers and members of the company and charity IPA LBG registered in England and Wales under registered numbers 3496765 and 1071752 respectively, and in consequence of disregard of my requests expressed in these letters, I announce the liquidation and the termination of the activity of the IPA LBG and its constituent organisations, and the reestablishment of the International Psychoanalytical Association.

Secondly, I confiscate all assets and property owned by IPA LBG and its constituent organisations for the purpose of said reestablishment.

Thirdly, I prohibit the usage of terms „psychoanalysis“, „psychoanalyst“ and „psychoanalytic“ and their equivalents in other languages by members of the IPA LBG, its constituent organisations, other companies, organizations and associations or by any person in relation to the professional designation.

Fourthly, to be qualified to perform psychoanalysis and to be designated as psychoanalyst, candidates should be examined by at least one supervisor and member of the reestablished International Psychoanalytical Association, and should demonstrate proficient knowledge of psychoanalysis and ability to perform it without any guidance. Every successful proof of ability will be registered, published and legally attested in order to guarantee the quality standard and individual accountability.

A handwritten signature in black ink, reading "Andrej Poleev". The signature is written in a cursive, flowing style.

Dr. Andrej Poleev
Berlin, 25.05.2019.

Andrej Poleev • Postfach 301812 • 10746 Berlin

Rhoda Bawdekar
IPA Publications Manager
Lexicon, Unit B, Book House
261a, City Road,
London EC1V 1AH
England

30.04.2019

Dear Ms Bawdekar,

I have no intent to translate my book that should include two supplementary essays, as mentioned in my book proposal, into English language, because they are intentionally written in the language of the author of The Interpretation of Dreams. Psychoanalysis is a therapeutic method that enable to identify the cause of mental disturbance by converting unconscious contents (absent, suppressed or forgotten) into conscious in the course of conversation between a patient and a psychoanalyst (Übertragung), and in this way to solve intrapsychic conflicts and amnesia, to compensate the lack of knowledge, to restore self-sufficiency and the ability for learning, thinking, retrospection, and self-healing.

Please consider the role I have to play in the course of our conversation. Your reply provides a reasonable ground to believe that you are heavily affected by repression, and therefore I remind that the International Psychoanalytical Association was founded by Sigmund Freud 1910 in order to promote his method {1–2}, and therefore it is the duty of the International Psychoanalytical Association to act in compliance with his intent. Due to extraordinary importance of my book, I expect from the International Psychoanalytical Association the publication of a print edition of my book including prior giving me all possible assistance in preparing of my book for printing.

Dr. Andrej Poleev

References.

1. Sigmund Freud. Erinnern, Wiederholen und Durcharbeiten. Internationale Zeitschrift für Ärztliche Psychoanalyse, Bd. 2 (6), 1914, S. 485-91.

„Endlich hat sich die konsequente heutige Technik herausgebildet, bei welcher der Arzt auf die Einstellung eines bestimmten Moments oder Problems verzichtet, sich damit begnügt, die jeweilige psychische Oberfläche des Analysierten zu studieren, und die Deutungskunst wesentlich dazu benützt, um die an dieser hervortretenden Widerstände zu erkennen und dem Kranken bewußtzumachen. Es stellt sich dann eine neue Art von Arbeitsteilung her: Der Arzt deckt die dem Kranken unbekanntem Widerstände auf; sind diese erst bewältigt, so erzählt der Kranke oft ohne alle Mühe die vergessenen Situationen und Zusammenhänge. Das Ziel dieser Techniken ist natürlich unverändert geblieben. Deskriptiv: die Ausfüllung der Lücken der Erinnerung, dynamisch: die Überwindung der Verdrängungswiderstände.“

2. Sigmund Freud. Zur Geschichte der psychoanalytischen Bewegung, 1914.

Die Form einer offiziellen Vereinigung hielt ich für notwendig, weil ich den Mißbrauch fürchtete, welcher sich der Psychoanalyse bemächtigen würde, sobald sie einmal in die Popularität geriete. Es sollte dann eine Stelle geben, welcher die Erklärung zustände: Mit all dem Unsinn hat die Analyse nichts zu tun, das ist nicht die Psychoanalyse. In den Sitzungen der Ortsgruppen, aus denen sich die internationale Vereinigung zusammensetzte, sollte gelehrt werden, wie die Psychoanalyse zu betreiben sei, und sollten Ärzte ihre Ausbildung finden, für deren Tätigkeit eine Art von Garantie geleistet werden konnte. Auch schien es mir wünschenswert, daß sich die Anhänger der Psychoanalyse zum freundschaftlichen Verkehr und zur gegenseitigen Unterstützung zusammenfänden, nachdem die offizielle Wissenschaft den großen Bann über sie ausgesprochen und den Boykott über die Ärzte und Anstalten verhängt hatte, die sie übten. Dies alles und nichts anderes wollte ich durch die Gründung der »Internationalen Psychoanalytischen Vereinigung« erreichen.

Rhoda Bawdekar <Rhoda@ipa.world> Apr 29 at 5:25 PM

To Journal Enzymes ISSN 1867-3317

CC Gabriela Legorreta

Dear Andrej Poleev,

Many thanks for your interest in submitting a book proposal. At this stage we receive applications in English only. Are you able to translate the two essays that you have sent through?

Many thanks in advance,

Rhoda

Rhoda Bawdekar

Web and Publications Manager

+44 20 8446 8324

<https://www.ipa.world>

Unit B, Book House, 261a City Road, London, EC1V 1AH

The International Psychoanalytical Association ("IPA") is registered in England as a company limited by guarantee (no. 3496765), and as a charity (no.1071752); whose registered address is IPA, Lexicon, Unit B Book House, 261a City Road, London EC1V 1AH, United Kingdom.

Andrej Poleev • Postfach 301812 • 10746 Berlin

Rhoda Bawdekar
IPA Publications Manager
Lexicon, Unit B, Book House
261a, City Road,
London EC1V 1AH
England

26.04.2019

Please find enclosed the completed publication proposal form for following title:

Metaanalysis of psychoanalysis.

The Author.

IPA CALL FOR PUBLICATIONS PROPOSALS FORM

TYPE OF PROPOSAL (tick appropriate)

Individual work

Themed Collection (specify theme and potential contributors)

Topical Paper

Other (Please specify)

This individual work shall be published as a print book.

TITLE: Metaanalysis of psychoanalysis (2016)

Full names of all authors / contributors

Dr. Andrej Poleev

Email: andrejpoleev@yahoo.com

(tick and enclose) Introduction: proposal description, outlining aims and scope of book

The perspective revolution of Sigmund Freud: An update.

The manuscript consists of 4 parts: The Dream; From Oedipus to Narciss; The interim summary of the endless analysis; Structures of delusion. In introductory part, I look back on the history of psychoanalysis from the beginning and until death of its founder. This reminiscence is continued in the 2nd part with the intent to examine the evolution of psychoanalytic views afterward and to overlook a conceptual whole of the psychoanalysis up to date. The next part is an attempt to merge the psychoanalytic heritage and all other fields of science. The process of mergence is inevitable in the light of recent achievements that have lead to substantial progress in our understanding of causality underlying behavior and biogenic evolution, accompanied by paradigmatic shifts and synthesis of previously dissociated scientific disciplines or fields of knowlege. The last part is focused on the questions of psychopathology and completing the line of reasoning.

Two others thematically relevant essays may compliment and supplement the main manuscripts:

1. Review of the „Handbook of Antisocial personality disorder“, Schattauer, 2017. (2018)

English Abstract: The Antisocial personality disorder and several other psychiatric constructs are questioned and deconstructed in this review, that uses psychoanalytic approach to explain the nature of psychopathy and to give recommendations in this respect.

<http://enzymes.at/download/Rezension.pdf>

2. Infernal state: An essay on regression. (2019)

English Abstract: Continuing the reexamination of prevailing views, conceptions and paradigms carried out on the basis of the psychoanalytic theory, as it already has been done in previous publications, and considering great significance of the topic, I open the year 2019 with my essay on the state of psychic regression, which in my opinion is the most obvious and earnest problem of our time, and invite all scholars and qualified individuals to participate in a discussion.

<http://enzymes.at/download/regression.pdf>

x (tick and enclose) CV of all contributors (Brief: 5-6 lines)

Dr. Andrej Poleev is a russian scientist-polymath and the author of several books written in Russian and German.

CV: <http://enzymes.at/download/cv.pdf>

x (tick and enclose) Table of Contents: As indicated above.

x (tick and enclose) 1-2 chapters: As indicated above.

x (tick and enclose) Bibliography for author/editors/contributors

IMPORTANT: Proposals sent to the IPA will not be accepted if they are also under consideration by other publishing houses. Proposals are only accepted in English.

Andrej Poleev • Postfach 301812 • 10746 Berlin

IPA Accounts Department
Lexicon, Unit B, Bookhouse
261a City Road
London EC1V 1AH
England

26.04.2019

Application for defrayal.

Herewith I ask the IPA to defray the cost of a personal computer that I need for psychoanalytic work, and apply for an equipment allowance. To enable purchasing, please transfer EUR 1.500 to the account number IBAN DE24700905000001906534 BIC GENODEF1S04 (Sparda-Bank Munich).

A handwritten signature in black ink, reading "Andrej Poleev". The signature is written in a cursive, flowing style.

Dr. Andrej Poleev